A) Read the following text about Black Friday and choose the correct answer for each question. (/21)

Black Friday

The day after Thanksgiving is the start of the holiday shopping season. Thanksgiving is always on a Thursday, so the day after is a Friday. This day has come to be known as Black Friday. It has been the busiest shopping day of the year since 2005.

Most stores offer great deals on Black Friday. They open their doors in the wee hours of the morning. They try to attract shoppers with big discounts. Some items like TVs are much cheaper than usual. Stores may even lose money on these items. They hope that shoppers will buy gifts for other people while they are in the store.

Black Friday is a great time to get good deals. The problem is that there are not enough low-priced items to go around. Each store may only have a few. These items are in high demand. People stand in long lines to get such great deals. They may line up hours before a store opens. They may be hoping to get a low price on a TV or laptop, but not everyone who wants one will get one. Some people leave disappointed.

The situation can be tense. Some Black Friday events have been violent. Large, eager crowds have trampled workers. Fights have broken out over toys or people cutting in line. People have shot one another over parking spots. But most Black Friday events are safe and fun. Still, if you plan on going, expect large crowds and a bit of shoving.

So where does the name "Black Friday" come from? It was first used in Philadelphia in the 1950s. The police called this day Black Friday because of the heavy traffic it drew. In the 1960s, stores tried to rename the day "Big Friday." It did not stick. The name "Black Friday" continued to spread across the country. It seems that it is here to stay.

Now people all over the country take part in the event known as Black Friday. It is even spreading to other parts of the world. Stores have held Black Friday events in the U.K., Australia, and Brazil since 2012. In Costa Rica Black Friday is known as "Viernes Negro." And in Mexico, stores offer an annual weekend of discounts. They call it "El Buen Fin," which means "the good weekend" in Spanish. I guess the language of savings is universal.

1. According to the text, why do stores set prices so low on some items that they lose money?

Stores are in a giving mood because the holiday season is just beginning.

They hope people will buy other gifts while they are in the store.

C) Read the following article about the iPod and fill in the blanks with only ONE word. (/15)

Say goodbye to the iPod era

Apple just quietly announced that it was killing the Shuffle and iPod Nano, leaving just iPod Touch as the remaining model, and the Touch is basically the iPhone without phone service. The others seem to have1) ______ out of steam, as they were pure music players, like the original iPod. This definitely signifies the end of an era.

Before the iPod, you'll recall that Apple was just coming back to life. 2) ______ returned to the company, CEO Steve Jobs introduced an appealing all-in-one iMac computer that found a gap in the market. Sales paled compared to Windows computers, but the iMacs were well-reviewed and starting to take off.

Meanwhile, the idea of the "Mp3 player," was starting to spread by word of 3) ______. The Diamond Rio and Creative Labs Nomad Jukebox were two of the earliest models, and for the first time, we were able to transfer songs from our computers to devices that enabled us to take portable music around.

All the work on these models didn't seem to pay4) ______, but it all changed on Oct. 23, 2001. That's 5) ______ Apple introduced the first iPod, it had a built-in 5 gigabyte hard drive that Apple said could put "1,000 songs in your pocket."

Originally, the iPod could only be used with Mac computers, and it wasn't until 2004 that sales started to increase.

This was one year after the introduction of the iTunes Store, which gave consumers an easy, legal way to buy songs. Remember that record stores were still common and CDs were 6)______ sold prominently at Best Buy, Target and Barnes and Noble.

The iTunes Store and the iPod changed all that. But in 7) ______ of the fact that the iPods grew (the last classic edition of the original iPod had 160 GBs of storage space for songs), people moved onto all-in-one devices.

In 2007, Jobs introduced to the world the iPhone, a new kind of digital play-toy that was a phone, as 8) ______ as an internet communicator and an iPod, and with that, it was goodbye iPod.

The iPhone, was 9) ______ an effective device that it eventually killed off the interest in a stand-alone music player. 10) ______ was clear that this would happen in the long 11) ______ .

And who cares about storage when 12) ______ of downloading music onto your iPhone, you can use a service like Spotify, which offers unlimited music streaming to every song you could ever think of.

However, the little iPod is a more compact object to run or walk with and it's nice to have a pure music player in your hands, 13) ______ if you can't check your e-mail while grooving to the music or find out what time sunset will be.

That, you can do with the iPod Touch, which again, is the iPhone without phone service and the only remaining iPod still for sale on the Apple website.

Surely, Apple 14) ______ still be selling the Shuffle, Nano, Mini and other iPod models if consumer interest was still there. It is believed that this would be the case, at least for some years to come.

If you still want one, however, it's not the end of the 15) ______. There are dozens to choose from in used and discontinued but still for sale models available on Amazon, eBay and other marketplaces.

So long, iPod. It's been a great ride, I've been your greatest fan, but truthfully, I haven't turned you on in years.
